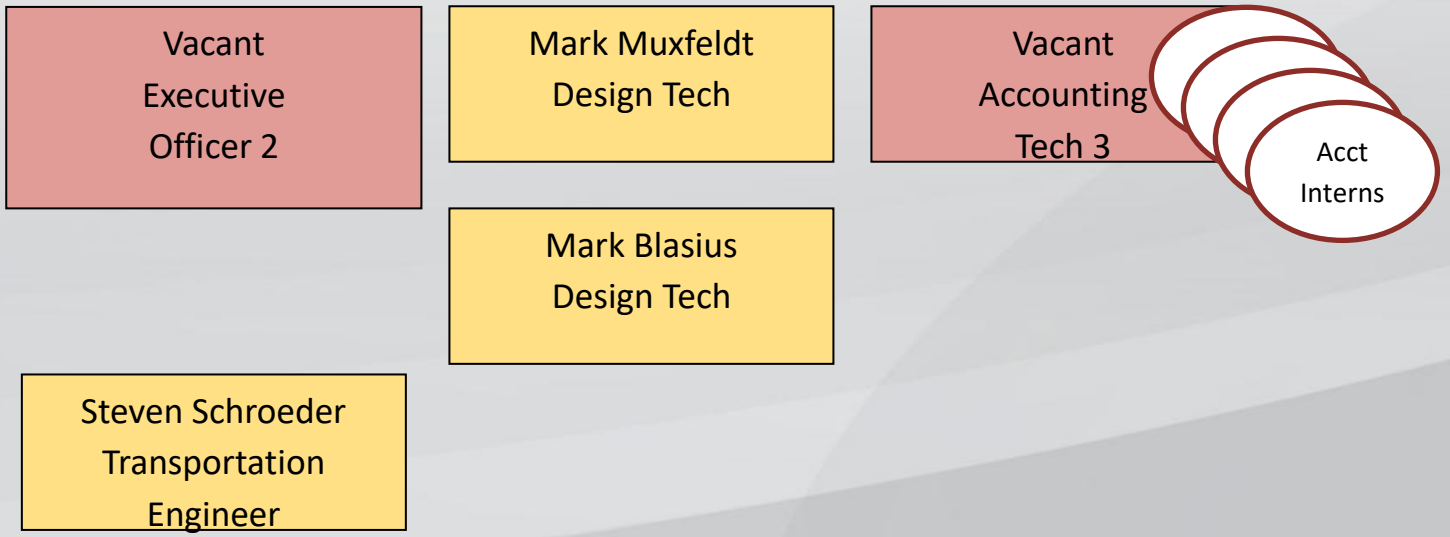
IOWA DOT

SMARTER | SIMPLER | CUSTOMER DRIVEN

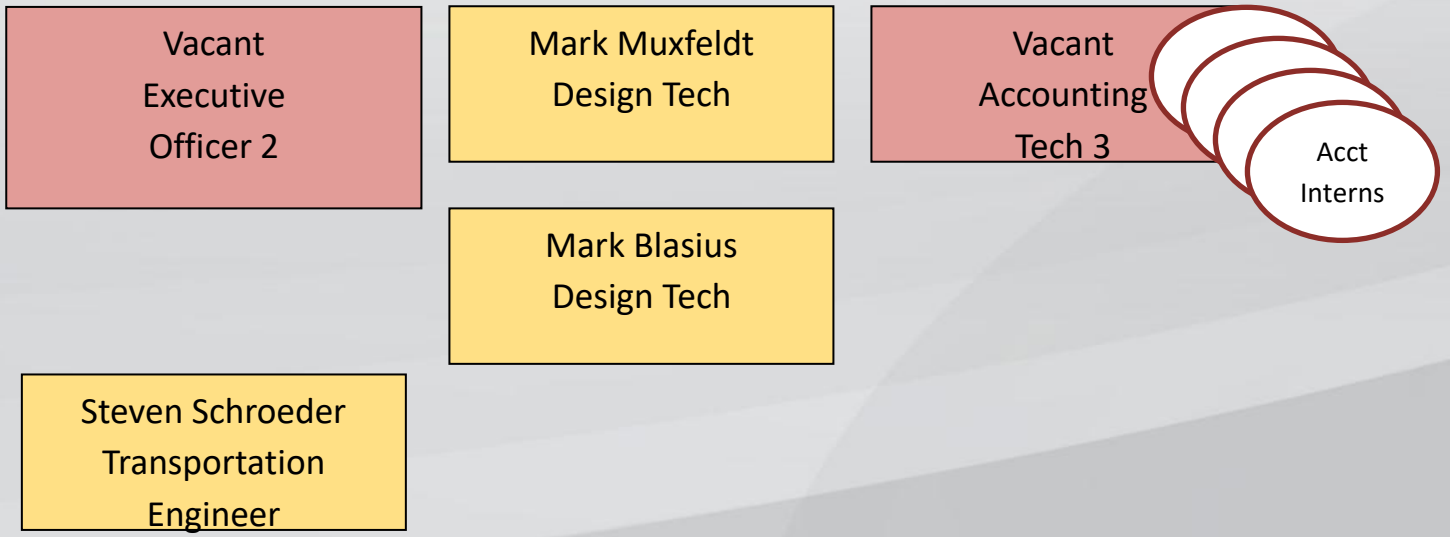
Project Management Office

Deanna Maifield, P.E.

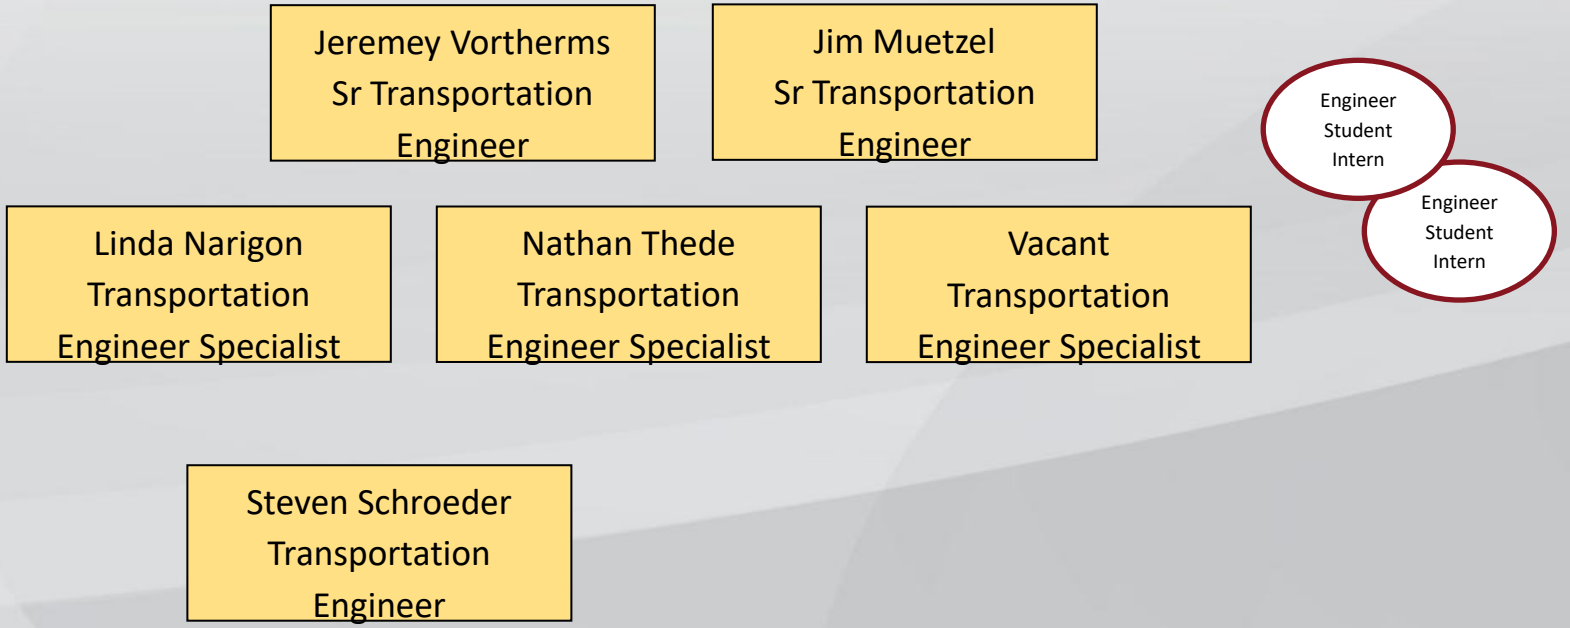
Staffing – General Contract Administration



Staffing – General Contract Administration



Staffing – Project Management



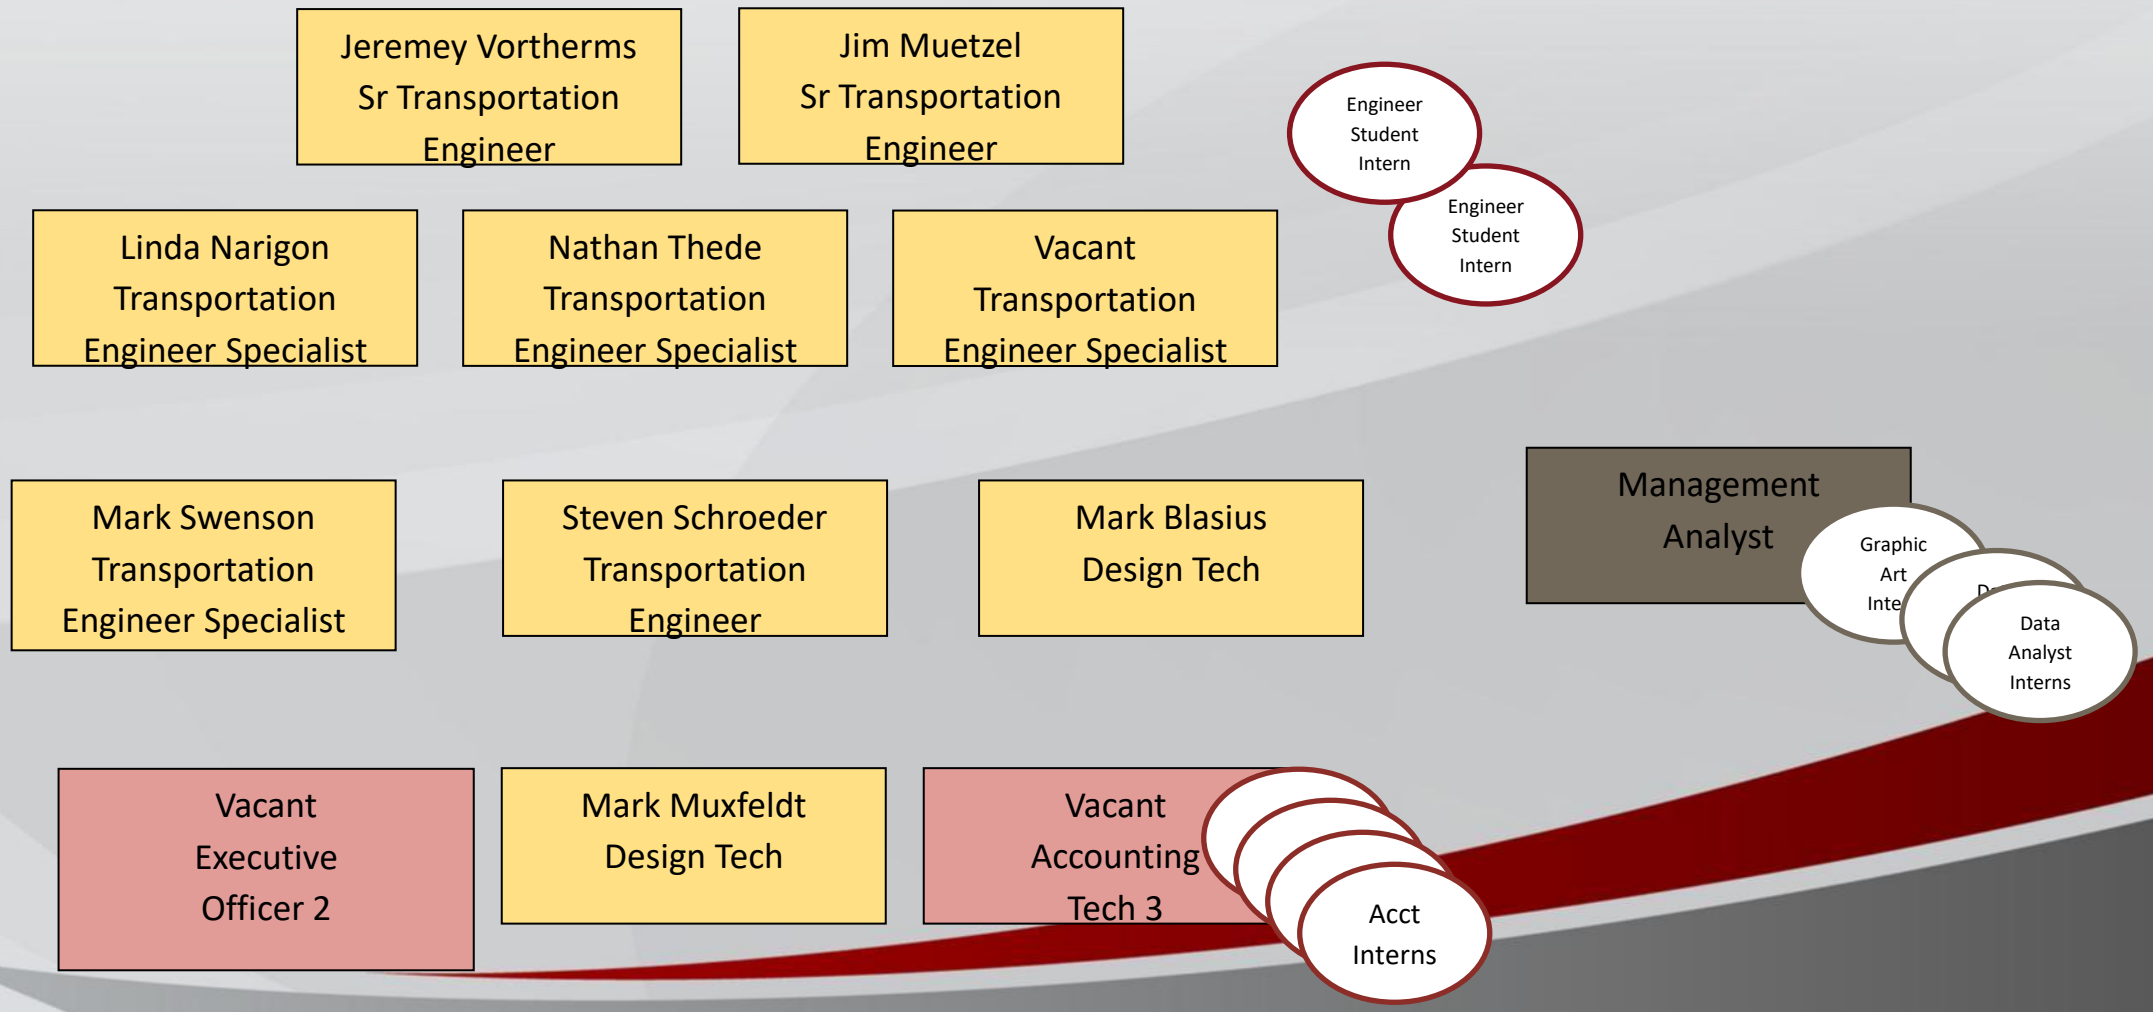
Staffing – Project Management

Steven Schroeder
Transportation
Engineer

Mark Swenson
Transportation
Engineer Specialist

Mark Blasius
Design Tech

Staffing – Project Management



Mission – what is the purpose of the PMO?

Improve the Department's ability to consistently deliver quality projects on time and under budget through the application of sound project management principles.

Why?

- Increased transparency and accountability for meeting project schedules, budgets, and quality standards.
- Provide better information and decision making processes related to the resources needed to deliver quality projects on time and within budget.
- Establish better controls and mechanisms for reporting project cost, schedule and quality.
- Provide a more comprehensive and risk-based approach to management of large, complex projects.
- Improve existing processes for developing and managing small to medium sized projects with varying levels of complexity.
- Provide data, tools, insight and recommendations that will help upper management create clarity and consistency in prioritizing and managing a portfolio of projects for programming and development.

What does success look like?

- Everyone understands their job
- Everyone understands how they relate to others
- Decision makers are consistently making good decisions and everyone buys in
- Consultants are all timely and knowledgable
- We make the best possible use of our funds
- Projects are all easily completed on schedule
- …..

- People say we didn’t need that project manager at all